

I think this is harassment. If I wanted to do business with these companies I would walk through there doors and talk to someone.